

8th SIP Planning Awards 2023

The Singapore Institute of Planners (SIP) is pleased to invite participation in the 8th SIP Planning Awards 2023. Held bi-annually, this prestigious Planning Awards recognise urban planners and consultancy firms in Singapore and beyond for their excellence in urban planning.

SIP wishes to honour the achievements with like-minded professionals and firms that identify with the Planning Principles SIP champions:

- ✓ Inclusiveness
- ✓ Planning is Multi-disciplinary
- ✓ Singapore Planning Principles
 - Planning for long term, Planning for Capacity
 - Integrated Planning
 - Liveable City
 - Sustainability
 - Resiliency

For the 8th SIP Planning Award, SIP will be continuing with the past tradition of honouring both projects and people. Other than the planning professionals, we would like to acknowledge the efforts of more allied professionals, both locally and internationally, who are contributing to the creation of a more vibrant planning community in this new normal.

Arising from the active collaboration between SIP and The Hong Kong Institute of Planners (HKIP), SIP would like to announce the launching of a new award category which will be jointly administered by SIP and HKIP. Through this award, SIP would like to play its part in encouraging more regional effort to strengthen and transform the planning profession.

Except for the Joint Award By SIP & HKIP For Excellence in Planning, Outstanding Student Project and Young Planner of the Year which will have eligibility criteria, all other award categories are open to SIP and non-SIP members.

Award winners will be announced in Sep 2023 at the award presentation event to be reviewed at a later date. Summaries of the winning projects will be posted on the SIP website.

AWARD CATEGORIES

For the 8th SIP Planning Award, SIP is pleased to announce a total of 12 categories of entry. To recognise not only outstanding planning projects, but also individuals who have contributed significantly to the planning professions, there are 11 categories under PROJECT and 1 category under PEOPLE:

UNDER PROJECT

- 1. EXCELLENCE IN PLANNING > 5000 HA

This award is for a plan that demonstrates innovation and excellence in developing liveable communities that are economic engines at regional level. Applications may include but are not limited to visioning and comprehensive planning of large new and/or existing urban areas and growth corridors supported by clear regional economic development strategies.
- 2. EXCELLENCE IN PLANNING > 500 HA & UP TO 5000 HA

This award is for a plan that demonstrates innovation and excellence in developing liveable communities at district level. Applications may include but are not limited to visioning, planning and development of townships, industrial parks and urban centres.
- 3. EXCELLENCE IN PLANNING < & UP TO 500 HA

This award is for a plan that demonstrates innovation and excellence in developing liveable communities at neighbourhood and/or district level. Applications may include but are not limited to visioning, planning and development of townships, industrial parks and urban centres.
- 4. EXCELLENCE IN URBAN DESIGN, PLACEMAKING & PUBLIC SPACE

This award is for a plan that demonstrates innovative urban design principles that curate delightful urban experience of a locale, with the emphasis on the development of the place's character and the sense of identity that is unique to the people and the place itself. The project shall display the critical and positive role played by the planners and/or urban designers in such undertaking.
- 5. EXCELLENCE IN URBAN DESIGN, HERITAGE & CONSERVATION

This award is for a plan that demonstrates innovative urban design principles that curate delightful urban experience of a locale, with a strong emphasis on the design response to the historical and cultural significance of a given period. An in-depth analysis of the urban morphology of the area where the plan is located will be highly regarded. The project shall exemplify a sensitive approach towards respecting and/or preserving urban fabric, and in so doing bring about a positive change in the wider urban environment.
- 6. EXCELLENCE IN PLANNING FOR ENVIRONMENTAL RESILIENCY

This award is for a plan that demonstrates innovative approach and design solutions in mitigating risks, adapting to changes and supporting environmental sustainability in the face of disruptive events. Such events include not only climatic and natural disasters, but also negative impacts arising from rapid urbanisation. A holistic consideration of various urban systems critical to environmental sustainability will be highly regarded.

7. EXCELLENCE IN PLANNING FOR HEALTH & WELL BEING

This award is for a plan that demonstrates its innovative approach and design solutions in integrating health and well being of people in an urban development. Arising from the Covid-19 experience, it is time for urban planners and designers to rethink how planning should improve the abilities of the cities, districts, neighbourhoods and communities to adapt and respond better to future pandemics.

8. EXCELLENCE IN PLANNING FOR COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT & SOCIAL INCLUSIVENESS

This award is for a plan that demonstrates the significance of social inclusiveness in urban development, engages the communities as an integral part of the planning process and produces tangible outcomes. The engagement of communities may include participatory design, feedback and outreach through working sessions, meetings, workshops and digital platforms.

9. EXCELLENCE IN PLANNING DRIVEN BY INNOVATIVE URBAN SOLUTIONS & TECHNOLOGY

This award is for a plan that demonstrates the integration of innovation and smart solutions in an urban development. These solutions may include technologies that impact how people work, live, travel and perform all other activities of their daily lives. The in-depth consideration for implementation will be highly regarded.

10. JOINT AWARD BY SIP & HKIP FOR EXCELLENCE IN PLANNING

This award is for a plan that demonstrates responses to the planning and development concerns related to highly urbanised cities like Singapore and Hong Kong that share similar planning challenges. This award will specifically recognise innovative, sustainable, practical planning solutions pertaining to high density living environment, limited land supply and acute land-use competition, as well as climate change and rising sea level, etc. The project shall serve as an exemplar for other similar endeavours in both cities, contributing to both planning profession and the communities.

Applicants must be a member of SIP or HKIP.

11. OUTSTANDING STUDENT PROJECT

This award is to recognise creative student planning projects on a range of topics including but not limited to urban planning, urban design, sustainability concepts involving environmental, social and economic considerations.

Applicants must be enrolled in a tertiary institution in Singapore.

UNDER PEOPLE

12. YOUNG PLANNER OF THE YEAR

This award is to recognise outstanding contribution by SIP planners under 40 years old towards the advancement of the planning profession in Singapore. The planner shows the tenacity to go above and beyond to seek opportunities to demonstrate the role planners can play in shaping our urban environment. Candidate must be a SIP member (full or affiliate) and nominated by a SIP full member.

JUDGING CRITERIA

To merit a SIP Planning Award, the entry must provide an outstanding model in master planning and urban design. Ideally, it should also reflect a significant advancement in the practice for the benefit of the community.

For the 11 categories under PROJECT, entries will be judged against the following criteria:

Total 100% Breakdown:

25% Originality & Innovation

25% Planning/Urban Design Approach and Methodology

25% Core Values Demonstration

15% Implementability

10% Presentation and graphics

1. Originality and Innovation:

How does this plan show an innovative approach to planning? How can the plan or elements of the plan be used as a best practice example?

2. Planning /Urban Design Approach and Methodology:

How does the planning/urban design methodology illustrate a holistic and thorough approach of planning and design practices? How does the plan demonstrate a high quality of research and analysis in determining its proposed concepts?

3. Core Values Demonstration:

How does the plan champion and provide for all users and potential users in an equitable manner? How does the plan protect and nurture the natural environment? How does the plan ensure the continued economic success of the project, from operating and maintenance costs to return on investment? What are the short term and long-term benefits for the various public and private stakeholders? Emphasis will be placed on the specific themes related to the award categories. In addition, for the urban design categories, the core value demonstration will revolve around the design approach for the public space and/or the approach in heritage conservation or adaptive re-use.

4. Implementability

The project should show completion through any of the following factors:

- Implementation of the project on the ground
- Approval of the project by a government or regulatory authority
- (For student projects) Submission to a polytechnic or tertiary institution

5. Presentation & Graphics

How are the vision, planning objectives and core values being communicated to all stakeholders? This also applies to how the plan is being presented to the award's panel of juries in a way that allows the juries to appreciate the value proposition of the plan in a clear and concise manner.

For the category of Young Planner of the Year under PEOPLE, entries will be judged against the following criteria:

1. Individual's commitment to pursue professional development through active participation in planning related events and program
2. Contribution to achievements in planning profession
3. Leadership and role model to other young planners
4. Presentation and Interview
